About Ukrop's Homestyle Foods

Ukrop's Homestyle Foods (UHF) began in February 2010 upon the sale of Ukrop's Super Markets' 27 retail locations and Joe's Market. Retaining its kitchen and bakery manufacturing facilities and a distribution center, Bobby Ukrop and his two sons-in-law, Scott Aronson and Chris Kantner, launched the business by providing prepared foods and baked goods to its former stores (that were acquired by Martin's which has since been sold). Its foods are delivered to hundreds of supermarkets and retail locations six days a week in the Mid-Atlantic region and beyond. Its retail customers now include: Food Lion, Harris Teeter, Kroger, Libbie Market, Publix, The Fresh Market, The Market at 25th Street, and Wegmans. In addition, UHF operates Catering by Ukrop's, a food truck, and Ukrop's Market Hall, a retail store offering the "best of" its products. The company employs nearly 400 associates and gives 10% of its pre-tax profits back to the community as it works to nourish lives by sharing its passion for food and families. www.ukrophiomestylefoods.com
